SUMMARY

Java, C++, HTML, CSS, Javascript, and MySQL are what I'm most experienced with. I enjoy coding and on my free time, relax and play video games. One of the most joyous moments are sitting down and watching eSport competitions. I also enjoy going to various Hackathons and Game Jams because of the fun and intensive working environment. I love to delve into my creativity and express it by combining ideas with my technical side.

My goal is to work in a renowned gaming company and being a huge part with their creations. Whether it's assistant with their website, UI, or software, I will love to devote my skills and time to help. I believe in creating games that would give people lots of enjoyment though careful observation of the players' needs. I believe in doing so, you must understand the players' by playing the games yourself.
